Attendance Policy:

Students are expected to attend all classes in order to be successful in a course. The student may be administratively withdrawn from the course when absences become excessive as defined in the course syllabus.

When an unavoidable reason for class absence arises, such as illness, an official trip authorized by the college or an official activity, the instructor may permit the student to make up work missed. It is the student's responsibility to complete work missed within a reasonable period of time as determined by the instructor. Students are officially enrolled in all courses for which they pay tuition and fees at the time of registration. Should a student, for any reason, delay in reporting to a class after official enrollment, absences will be attributed to the student from the first class meeting.

Students who enroll in a course but have “Never Attended” by the official census date, as reported by the faculty member, will be administratively dropped by the Office of Admissions and Records. A student who does not meet the attendance requirements of a class as stated in the course syllabus and does not officially withdraw from that course by the official census date of the semester, may be administratively withdrawn from that course and receive a grade of “X” or “F” as determined by the instructor. Instructors are responsible for clearly stating their administrative drop policy in the course syllabus, and it is the student’s responsibility to be aware of that policy.

It is the student’s responsibility to verify administrative drops for excessive absences through MySPC using his or her student online account. If it is determined that a student is awarded financial aid for a class or classes in which the student never attended or participated, the financial aid award will be adjusted in accordance with the classes in which the student did attend/participate and the student will owe any balance resulting from the adjustment.

See instructor’s Course Information Sheet for additions to the attendance policy.

Disability Services Policy:

Students with disabilities, including but not limited to physical, psychiatric, or learning disabilities, who wish to request accommodations in this class should notify the Disability Services Office early in the semester so that the appropriate arrangements may be made. Office Hours

Should you have questions that need immediate and/or private attention I am available by email or phone. If calling my office phone (listed above), please leave a voicemail and it will be sent to me immediately. I will contact you as soon as I get your message. These “office hours” are open and continuous given the nature of this course. So, I will be available throughout the course as needed by students. You may also schedule an appointment by email and we can visit virtually. I will respond as quickly as possible, however if you contact me between the hours of 8pm and 8am, please allow until the following morning for me to respond.

Communication with Instructor via Email

Should you have questions about assignments, personal matters and course material, please use SPC’s official email to contact the instructor. SPC email is the official means of communication between professors and students. Be sure that you are using your official SPC email when contacting the instructor. Be advised that although I am available via email any time during the semester, I am not always able to respond to emails quickly, especially if you email during non-business hours (after 8pm). If you have questions about what to do if you are quarantined or are COVID-19 positive, please see COVID-19 policies in the START HERE folder on the course homepage in Blackboard.

Communication with Students

Communication with students regarding class assignments, exams, or other information, will be done via Course Announcements. These will populate beneath the course title in Blackboard and a copy of the announcement will be sent to your SPC email. If you see an announcement in Blackboard, simply click on the title of the announcement link and it will reroute you to the specific announcement contents. It is important that you check these announcements when they are sent out, which means frequent logging into Blackboard and your SPC email account.

General Expectations/Policies for Students:

I would like to welcome all students to this course. I consider it an honor that you have chosen to be in my online course. I want to thank you in advance for the time and hard work that you will put into this learning experience. One of the keys to being successful in college is to maintain communication with your instructor. Feel free to email any time if I can help you be successful in this course. I wish you all the luck this semester and hope that the grade that you achieve in this course will reflect the effort you put into it; we are here to work cooperatively and to learn together.

In order to create a smooth and harmonious online learning community, please make every attempt to keep up with all modules. This includes keeping up with the fast-pace of this course and complete all assignments and exams on time.

Course Information

Course information (e.g., syllabus, schedule, assignments, exams, and potential student handouts) is accessed through the Blackboard website. The student is responsible for any and all information that is posted on this site. If the student has questions/comments about this information, then she/he should contact the instructor (via SPC email).

Required Materials

- A MindTap access code is required for this course.
- Textbook: Mooney/Knox/Schacht - MindTap Sociology, 1 term (6 months) Printed Access Card, Enhanced for Mooney/Knox/Schacht's Understanding Social Problems, ISBN: 9781337570657
- Blackboard Learn 9.1 website
- You may find the textbook from other sources but make sure the price includes MindTap access or you will need to purchase a code separately from Cengage Publishing.

Course Requirements

The course is 100% online. You are responsible for viewing all lecture material, assigned readings, and assignments. You are expected to read the syllabus and be familiar with its contents. You are responsible for all material covered in this course.

This course is self-paced but does require assignments and exams to be due according to the schedule. Students are welcome to complete course work in advance but will not be allowed to complete course work after the due date on the course schedule.

It is essential that you have reliable access to the Internet. It is not necessary to purchase or own your own computer but you should have a backup plan in place should you encounter computer problems. Firefox is the recommended and supported browser for Blackboard. There are open computer labs available to all enrolled SPC students on all campuses. It is also the student's responsibility to have the required computer skills to complete this course. Should you encounter technical difficulties contact the instructor first, and/or the SPC technical support call (806) 894-9611, ext. 2180. Be sure to include course and section number information when contacting technical support.

Computer Requirements

Browser Plug-ins and Security Software: Most Web educational experience will require the use of several additional browser plug-ins. It is very highly recommended that you have an anti-virus program on your computer. You may also need Adobe Acrobat for several readings and a multimedia player such as Windows Media Player. Firefox is the supported browser for Blackboard. SPC students are offered Office 365 which includes Microsoft Word, PowerPoint, Excel, and storage on OneDrive. Please download and use it! Since this course is entirely online, participants are expected to have at least an elementary knowledge of their microcomputer operating system and basic knowledge of software and tools such as a word processor, e-mail, an Internet browser, and search engines.

Technical Problems/Support

If you are having computer problems, let the instructor know as soon as possible. I will try to help in any way I can. Please remember that it is the student's responsibility to have a backup plan for technical issues. It is advised to have a plan in place now and do not wait until it is a crisis.

- Most tech issues are related to failure to update java, using the incorrect internet browser (try use Google Chrome or Firefox instead of Internet Explorer), and/or not deleting browsing history files daily. Most issues are related to computer issues, not Blackboard. Make sure that your computer has an up-to-date antivirus software program installed. Please note this instructor does NOT recommend use of any handheld devices like a cell phone for taking this course.
- SPC Technical Support Contact: Call (806) 716-2180 or email at Blackboard@southplainscollege.edu for student technical support. I am your course work support contact. Only call or e-mail technical support with questions about Blackboard or computer functioning. There is Technical Support information in the Help, Resources & FAQ area on the homepage your Blackboard course. It contains links to Student Tutorials and the Student Orientation Course for Blackboard. Contact me for any course content information.

Logging into Blackboard

To access your course, go to <https://southplainscollege.blackboard.com/> or go to the SPC Homepage and click on the "Login to" link in the top right-hand portion of the page and then click on the Blackboard link on the pull-down or you can type or copy the address into the address window of your computer. I recommend that you bookmark Blackboard on your computer for quick access. You can also log into MySPC and there is a Blackboard link there. Once you reach the site you will click "Log In". The log-in screen will come up asking for your user name and password. Simply follow the instructions on the screen. It is a good idea to bookmark the Blackboard login page on your computer so that you may access it quickly and efficiently.

Open Computer Lab

There is an Open Computer Lab located on the Levelland campus in the Technology Center. It is available to all students, with priority given to those students enrolled in computer classes. Computers are also available on the Reese Center, Lubbock, and Plainview campuses. Check with libraries and labs for hours.

Attendance & Late Work

Late work is not allowed! Communication is key. If you need to miss any portion of the course assignments (although not advised) please let the instructor know in advance, within 2 days of missing. If you miss “class” and have an SPC approved excuse (i.e., you are representing SPC at an official school function or celebrating a religious holy day) or a notice of absence from the Office of the Dean of Students, it is your responsibility to provide the written excuse from the school or proper documentation according to the situation. In the case of an excused absence, you are still responsible for all readings, work, materials, and assignments that were missed. After contacting the instructor, upon approval, a new due date will be given for either the original assignment or an alternative assignment of equal value. If the student fails to meet the revised due date, then she/he will be given a zero (0) for the assignment.

What does Attendance mean in this course?

Attendance in this course is documented by consistent submission of coursework whether those are assignments or exams. Missing coursework, consecutive or otherwise, is counted as an absence. Excessive missing coursework may result in an administrative drop. See Administrative Drop Policy.

Extra Credit Activities

Extra credit opportunities will not be offered throughout the course session. However, there are three additional tasks, the Course Participation Agreement and Syllabus Quiz, which will be given additional points added to your grade upon completion (See Grading section for breakdown of points). Very rarely will extra credit be given. Please note that in the event that it is given, the points may not be significant enough to bump your grade up a letter but will be enough to supplement an assignment’s low grade. Do not depend on extra credit to completely “fix” your overall grade.

Academic Integrity

In addition to the policy in the Common Course Syllabus, it should be understood that students found guilty of cheating or plagiarism will earn a zero on the work in question for the first offense and will be documented with South Plains College. Should a second offense occur, the student will be dropped from the course with an ‘F’. Any amount of dishonesty is subject to these consequences, whether a lot or a little; this can include but is not limited to: one copied sentence of a written assignment, a missing citation, an entire paper copied from someone/somewhere else, one plagiarized post on a discussion board, one copied exam item, looking at the scantron of another student during an exam or an exam or other coursework completed by someone other than yourself. You have also committed academic dishonesty when sharing course content/items/answers. This includes sharing course content with classmates or future students as well as sharing course content on websites such as Quizlet, Course Hero, or similar “study applications.” For further information and examples please see the Catalog, Student Guide, or refer to www.plagiarism.org

Class Withdrawal

It is the full responsibility of the student to personally withdraw from the course if needed. A student who has already missed modules, assignments, or exams, had difficulty adequately completing assignments and exams and/or anticipates difficulty in completing the course to his/her satisfaction is encouraged to give withdrawal all the consideration it is due. A student is encouraged to discuss her/his progress with the instructor prior to making a withdrawal decision.

Administrative Drop Policy

Per SPC’s attendance policies, the instructor reserves the right to drop a student for excessive absences according to SPC guidelines. Due to Financial Aid and South Plains College requirements for participation/attendance a student who fails to turn in 5 assignments during the semester may be dropped with a grade of “X” from the course. If missed assignments occur after the final drop date the grade will be “F.” Assignments in this context refer to the MindTap chapter assignments as well as application assignments and exams.

Syllabus

The instructor reserves the right to make changes to the syllabus if necessary. In these rare cases, students will be notified of any changes in advance.

APA Style

There are many resources for how to write according to the (APA) American Psychological Association's style guidelines. You should refer to the APA Publication Manual 6th Edition for a full explanation. The SPC library website has resources for writing in APA format.

Methods for Assessing the Expected Learning Outcomes

The expected learning outcomes for the course will be assessed through exams and application assignments. Grades are based on the quality of the work that has been submitted, not the existence of a submission. This means that grades are earned based on proof of mastery of the major concepts.

Exams & Assignments

Reading Assignments

It is expected that you read the assigned chapter readings before coming to class. This will facilitate class discussion and activities. If it is clear to me that students are not completing their reading assignments, I reserve the right to alter the syllabus to add pop quizzes into your final grade. Therefore, it is in your best interest to read and be ready to apply your knowledge in class and in the assignments. Assigned readings are listed in the schedule portion of the syllabus as well as under the Course Schedule tab in Blackboard.

MindTap Assignments (MT1 – MT10) (200 pts total; 20 points each)

There will MindTap assignments throughout the semester. There are 10 MindTap assignments total which will cover individual chapters. The MindTap assignments will not cover all of the chapters in the textbook so it is important that students only complete MindTap assignments which are outlined in the schedule. Typically if there is a "skipped" chapter, there is an Application Assignment due for the missing chapter. These assignments will be accessed and turned in via Blackboard.

Application Assignments (A1-A5) (100 points total; 20 points each)

Throughout the course you will be required to work on various Application Assignments. All assignments must be done independently, must be typed as a Word document, and due according to the schedule. Hand-written and scanned, emailed, or late assignments will NOT be allowed. See How to Submit Application Assignment video in Blackboard for specific details and requirements. Application assignments must be submitted using complete sentences, proper use of spelling and grammar, and clearly explain your thinking using examples to receive credit.

Exams (200 points; 50 points each)

There will be 4 non-cumulative exams during the semester. Exam Study Guides will be provided by the instructor to assist in preparing for the exams. The exams will cover any material presented in lectures, the textbook, as well as assigned readings or media. Exams will include only a multiple-choice format. All exams will be completed on the due date on the schedule and you may use your notes and textbooks. The final exam will not be given at any time other than the scheduled final exam day. Make-up exams for the first 3 exams will be given only in extreme situations, may be of a different format than the original tests, and will only be given if you notify the instructor prior to exam day that you will not be able to complete the exam within the 24 hour time period. If you are permitted to take a make-up exam, you will take it at a mutually agreed upon time, as soon after the original exam as possible. Make-up exams will not be given if I have not been notified prior to the exam day about your absence. Please plan your travel arrangements accordingly.

Although you are welcome to work ahead, please note that exams will only be available the week they are due. Also note that if you click to open an exam, you must complete the exam. You will not be allowed to return to it at a later time.

Civility in the Classroom

To create and preserve a classroom atmosphere that optimizes teaching and learning, each student shares a responsibility in creating a civil and non-disruptive forum. The student is expected to conduct herself/himself at all times in this classroom in a manner that does not disrupt teaching or learning. In order to assure that all students have an opportunity to gain from time spent in class, each student is prohibited from using cellular phones/beepers/pagers/MP3s/Ipods, making offensive remarks, reading newspapers/non-class materials, sleeping, excessive/loud talking, talking during exams, using tobacco products or engaging in any other form of distraction in the classroom. The student who engages in such behaviors during course assignments (e.g., exams, papers, group projects) will not be permitted to complete or make-up the assignment and will be given a grade of zero (0) for the assignment. In addition, the instructor has the right to limit classroom discussion in order to meet the educational objectives of the class session. The instructor is authorized to take such steps as are necessary if the behavior of the student disrupts the normal classroom procedure. The instructor may remove the student for the single class session in which disruptive behavior becomes continuous and/or serious, and may begin disciplinary proceedings. (Refer to the South Plains College Student Conduct Guide, available on the South Plains College website.) If the student engages in repeated deviations from expected classroom behavior, then he/she may be dropped from the course. Violations of the Student Conduct Guide may result in serious sanctions, up to and including expulsion.

Diversity Statement

In this class, the teacher will establish and support an environment that values and nurtures individual and group differences and encourages engagement and interaction. Understanding and respecting multiple experiences and perspectives will serve to challenge and stimulate all of us to learn about others, about the larger world and about ourselves. By promoting diversity and intellectual exchange, we will not only mirror society as it is, but also model society as it should and can be.

Sensitive Nature of Sociology Courses

Given the dynamics of individual, relational, familial, societal and cultural development and issues, behavioral studies courses address many sensitive issues; this course is no exception. Lifespan and relational issues occur in the context of sexual, racial/ethnic, political, religious/spiritual, economic/social class, and disability/challenge concerns. The discussion of such issues will increase the student's knowledge of developmental conditions in the modern world, but the information can be emotionally charged. It is also likely that the student will be exposed to diverse viewpoints; some viewpoints might differ substantially from the student's personal views. If the student chooses to remain in class, then she/he will be expected to respect the diverse viewpoints represented in course material, as well as the viewpoints of his/her classmates. If the student is easily offended by discussion of such issues, then he/she should consider whether to remain enrolled in the course.

Revelation of Personal Information

This course addresses topics that are personal in nature. The student is encouraged to participate in class discussion/presentations, but the student is not required to share personal information with classmates. Also, the student is advised to use discretion in self-disclosure with classmates and the instructor. It is anticipated that fellow students will be respectful and not disclose information that is shared in class, but the instructor cannot guarantee confidentiality of information that the student shares with classmates. Thus, the student is responsible for the information that he/she shares, and should not share information that he/she does not want others to know.

Title IX & Pregnancy Accommodations Statement

SPC is dedicated to providing a safe and equitable learning environment for all students. If you are pregnant, or have given birth within six months, Under Title IX you have a right to reasonable accommodations to help continue your education. To activate accommodations you must submit a Title IX pregnancy accommodations request, along with specific medical documentation, to the Director of Health and Wellness. Once approved, notification will be sent to the student and instructors. It is the student's responsibility to work with the instructor to arrange accommodations. Contact Crystal Gilster, Director of Health and Wellness at 806-716-2362 or email cgilster@southplainscollege.edu for assistance.

SPC does not tolerate discrimination, sexual assault, and harassment. You are encouraged to report any incidents to SPC Campus Police Office at (806) 716-2396 or their 24 Hour Phone at (806) 891-8883. The SPC Student Health & Wellness office (<http://www.southplainscollege.edu/health/studenthealth.php>) provides support (806-894-9611) and the Voices of Hope Lubbock Rape Crisis Center has a 24-hour hotline: 806-763-RAPE (7273). For more information about support, reporting options, and other resources, go to: <http://www.southplainscollege.edu/health/studenthealth.php> under the Mental Health Resources tab.

Course schedule is provided in Blackboard.
